About the RTS

From glamorous award ceremonies to lively debates, the RTS embraces all aspects of television, and is open to anyone with an interest in the medium.

As an educational charity, we encourage and celebrate work in television and its related fields, from finding out how the nation's favourite shows are made in our Anatomy of a Hit series, to celebrating burgeoning talent at our annual Student Awards.

The industry's most talented individuals give us an insight into the work that goes into making cutting edge contemporary TV. From Government ministers and CEOs to workshops with great runners, our events look at every part of the business.

Our annual Television Journalism, Programme, Craft and Design, and Student Awards celebrate achievements across the broadcasting industry.

Each year, we offer Television Production and Technology bursaries to help those from less affluent backgrounds get a foothold in the industry, and Masterclass sessions bring together students, academics and industry heads.

Global television leaders gather to discuss what the future holds for television at our London Conference or the RTS Cambridge Convention.

Alongside our engaged community of around 5,000 full members, the Society is supported by Britain and the world's biggest broadcasters, producers and consultants, including Principal Patrons BBC, Channel 4, ITV and Sky.

Originally founded as the Television Society in 1927, the Society was granted its Royal title in 1966 and HRH The Prince of Wales became Patron of the RTS in 1997.

Today, 15 regional and national groups curate lively events and awards around the UK and Ireland, from Glasgow to Galway.

RTS Futures, which is aimed at those in their first two years of employment, organises an exciting roster of discussion, training and social occasions. Recent events have included workshops on learning how to format shows and how to survive as a freelancer, and expert panels explaining how to be the best researcher and how to make it on-screen.

Judging Process

The Awards in National and International News categories were decided by the votes of neutral voting jurors. Representatives of the entrants were also present and could speak in support of entries but could not vote.

The Current Affairs and Regional categories were decided by a panel of neutral and broadcaster jurors.

The Judges' and Outstanding Contribution Awards were decided by a panel of Chairs' of the Juries and representatives of news organisations.

Composition of juries for National and International News categories

The 'neutrals' – voting members of the juries will fall into one or both of the following categories:

1. List A

Neutrals who have a substantial working knowledge of TV News and/or Current Affairs and so know how news-gathering works and how programmes are put together. They should not have been on the staff of an entrant in the relevant category for the past two years or had a long term contract with them in that period. It is not intended to exclude freelancers who work for a range of broadcasters/news providers or individuals who do occasional broadcast work but there should be no dominant commitment to any one broadcaster/news provider.

2. List B

Other neutrals – senior journalists and former editors of non-broadcast media and those journalists providing coverage of the news and media industries.

In addition, there will be non-voting entrants' representatives who will be present throughout. They will be able to contribute to the debate but not vote.

John Schofield Trust

supporting young journalists

The John Schofield Trust was set up in 1996 to mentor young journalists, following the death of John Schofield at 29.

25 years later, the Trust continues to promote social mobility and young talent through three key programmes:

Recognising young talent

Early career mentoring

Sixth form mentoring

Want to donate?

Want to volunteer?

The Trust is grateful to the following funders for their continued support:

BBC News, Sky News, ITV News, Channel 5 News, JRSST-CT, the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the Garfield Weston Foundation, Martin Lewis, Robin Lustig
