

RTS YORKSHIRE CENTRE AWARDS 2020 – CATEGORIES AND CRITERIA FOR ENTRY

The RTS Yorkshire Centre Awards celebrate excellence in production across all platforms, formats and genres. We are a region proud of its television industry and all our nominees and winners will have two things in common: They will reflect exceptional quality, originality and skill; and they will also have a clear connection to Yorkshire.

All entries must meet the following criteria:

- They must have been broadcast or released between 1 March 2019 and 29 February 2020. Any series or serial episode submitted for judging must have been broadcast or released within the qualifying period although other episodes in the series may not have been.
- Any programme submitted for judging must have been made by a company, broadcaster or individual based in the Yorkshire region OR the majority of the programme (at least 60%) must have been filmed in the region.
- Individuals entered for awards must either have worked on a qualifying programme (see above) or must live and work in the region.
- The Yorkshire region is defined as the aggregated transmission areas of ITV Yorkshire, BBC Yorkshire, and BBC Yorkshire & Lincolnshire.

We have extended the entry period to 31 May 2020. We have rescheduled the awards presentation ceremony to take place on 20th November 2020. We expect to publish nominations in late September/early October.

THE JUDGING PROCESS

- The judges will consider all submissions for particular categories including viewing/reading all material. They will come to a judgement based on the criteria relevant to that category.
- The judges will meet in person or virtually at a meeting chaired by a Yorkshire Centre Committee Member. At the meeting they will discuss their findings and come to an agreed decision.
- Although a scoring process may be used as part of the judging process the final decision will be made through discussion.
- If it is the judges' view that none of the entries for a particular category reflects the exceptional in terms of quality, then RTS Yorkshire reserves the right to withdraw that category from the Awards schedule. This will protect the integrity of the Awards as reflecting quality.
- Nominations should provide sufficient information to enable the judges to make a decision based on the criteria - only the information provided via the online entry form and accompanying A/V material will be considered so it is important to include as much detail as possible – where deemed appropriate supporting evidence such as press reviews can be included. Such information can be uploaded as an attachment if necessary.
- Judges will be asked to disregard any knowledge or information they have if it is not included in the nomination information provided.
- Any known and declared conflicts of interest are managed by the Chair to prevent any undue influence on the judging process.
- The Judges' decision is final.

SUBMISSION OF ENTRIES

All entries must be received via the RTS online system for entries . Please go to <https://awardsentry.rts.org.uk/entrant/> to create your account and enter the Yorkshire Centre awards. Each entry costs £55 plus VAT.

The RTS recognises that many of our colleagues work on a freelance basis. We therefore welcome and encourage individuals to enter themselves and their work (except in the “One to Watch” and “Outstanding Contribution” categories). If you require any help with your entry, please contact us at RTSYorkshireEvents@rts.org.uk

The submission form may ask for an overall budget figure – this will enable the judges to make an informed decision on the effective use of budgets, recognising the different tariffs that are applied to different productions.

Entries will close on 31 May.

Factual Entertainment	Factual entertainment is a significant part of the Yorkshire region's television eco-system and some of the most talked about shows of the last few years have been in this genre. These shows cover big subjects in an entertaining, supersized, noisy way often via intervention or format. Tell us how your show both entertained and informed its target audience and how it demonstrated excellence. Was the format fresh and innovative? How was it received? What went in to making it a success?	This award recognises those shows that both entertain and inform their audiences. The single production or series may be across any platform, including regional, national, international and digital formats. Please submit either the full programme or one programme from the series. Programmes or series submitted in this category can not be entered in the Features category.
Features	Factual features is a growing area of TV production which hooks in large audiences in primetime and daytime slots. Factual features demand fresh ideas, sharp skills and hard work from their production teams. Often presenter-led, they cover subjects close to our hearts and reflective of our day-to-day lives including food, health, travel and family, and are full of useful information for the audience to take away. Tell us how your features content informed, inspired and enriched its target audience and how it demonstrated excellence. How was it received? What went in to making it a success?	This award recognises content that informs, inspires and enrich its audience. The single production or series may be across any platform, including regional, national, international and digital formats. Please submit either the full programme or one programme from the series. Low Cost Factual	Some of the hardest working people in television are making the high-volume, low budget factual shows that are the mainstay of the schedules. Tell us how you made your show stand out in a competitive market at a competitive price. How did you make the most of your resources? How did your production team demonstrate ingenuity and dedication?	This award is for factual series with a budget of no more than £60k per hour (pro rata) or equivalent The series may be across any platform, including regional, national, international and digital formats. Please submit one programme from the series.

Category	Context and judging criteria	Entry requirements
News Programme	This award is to recognise the highest standards of news output in the region – rewarding exceptional journalism, production and technical delivery in a high-pressure, competitive genre. Tell us why this programme deserves to be recognised. How did it achieve excellence? What are the examples of key content which helped it to stand out? The judges will be looking for consistently high standards of output, audience engagement, and a variety of high-quality, original and creative content.	This award is for any qualifying regional news programme. Please submit a full programme from the qualifying broadcast period.
News or Current Affairs Story	News from a local perspective is still an essential part of the TV ecology. Whether it is reporting a fast-moving breaking story from the scene or painstakingly pursuing a long-running story that requires investigation and dedication, viewers still want to know what is going on just down the road. Tell us why this report or item stands out, how the story was broken and pursued. Did the journalist secure exclusive access to an interviewee or location? If it was a regional story, did it lead or contribute to a national story? The judges will be looking for quality, originality, creativity and professionalism, as well as genuine news values.	This award will recognise a single news report or current affairs item that demonstrates a high standard of journalism, production and technical delivery. The entry can be from a regional or national news programme or current affairs show (including current affairs inserts within other formats). The guide length for the single story is 10 minutes.
News or Current Affairs Reporter	Regionally based journalists and reporters often have unique access, perspective and responsiveness to stories. They seek out the stories we need to know and often exceed expectations with outstanding pieces of journalism, agenda-setting scoops or original investigations. Tell us why this journalist's work is outstanding. Did they secure the story everyone else wanted? Are they skilled and tenacious interviewers? Do they report their stories in an original, stand-out way? The judges will be looking for quality, originality, creativity and professionalism, from each nominee.	This award will recognise high standards in television journalism in news and current affairs and is open to any journalist or reporter working on regional, national, international or digital formats. The entry could be a single report, or a portfolio of outstanding work (up to three reports as transmitted, with a guide length of 10 minutes in total) from the qualifying broadcast period. It may also be supported by a written submission.
